

Database Access

Access to the database with the model information

Controller

Layer incharge of saving the model within the server, handling predictions, creating an instance of the model, and sending information to the DB

Access Point

Layer incharge of receiving data and sending it via REST

